SAHA ADDS SENIOR STAFF TO REAL ESTATE AND HUMAN RESOURCES

SAN ANTONIO – The San Antonio Housing Authority (SAHA) has added two members to its senior management team.

Kathryn McCormick has been named Development Services and Neighborhood Revitalization Officer. She comes to SAHA with over 20 years of housing development and community engagement experience. Her most recent position was with the City of Santa Fe, New Mexico, where she served as the Director of Housing and Community Development. She has also served as the Executive Director of the Housing Authority of the City of Boulder, CO. McCormick has a broad range of experience in the planning, financing and development of affordable housing with non-profit, local government and private sector developers. She has a bachelor of arts degree from Northern Arizona University and completed executive training in Housing and Community Development at Harvard University.

McCormick will oversee 35 employees in the departments of Construction Services/Risk Management and Development Services/Neighborhood Revitalization. She will be responsible for SAHA's efforts in the areas of new construction, modernization and preservation of existing housing stock, sustainable and green initiatives, and risk management.

Paulette Owens-Holmes joins SAHA as the Director of Human Resources. She comes to SAHA with over 20 years of human resources experience with public agencies. Her most recent position was with the City of Cedar Hill, Texas, where she served as Assistant City Manager and Human Resources Director. Owens-Holmes has extensive experience in public administration, organizational management analysis, policy development, team building and employee services, and she has served as a sought after consultant and public speaker on training and internal communications.

Owens-Holmes holds a bachelor's of science degree in education and a master's of education degree in counseling and psychology. She has also participated in the Executive Leadership Institute for Public Policy at Harvard University, and earned certifications in Human Resources, Strategic Planning and Organizational Change.
